

Autech Named TasIT Company of the Year

Autech has been voted the inaugural TasIT Company of the Year at the recent TasIT Awards, held at the Moorilla Estate Function Centre on November 9th.

The Awards are Tasmania's most prestigious showcase of ICT innovation and excellence, and recognises the outstanding success of Tasmanian ICT companies over the past 12 months.

Peter Gartlan, President of TasIT said, "These awards are a unique opportunity for our members and the industry to receive recognition of their outstanding projects and business operations from peers, the industry, clients and the wider community."

"With the ever-increasing challenges and widening scope of the work undertaken by the ICT industry, quality has never been more important. The strictest standards are imposed throughout judging," said Mr Gartlan.

Over 300 guests attended the event, and in a TasIT first, were asked to vote on their top 5 companies in a range of categories, including Innovation, Marketing, Success, and Potential.

From a field of 16 TasIT companies, Autech Software & Design was announced the winner with over 200 votes.

Autech's National Marketing & Export Manager, Andrew Roberts accepted the award on behalf of Autech's CEO Darren Alexander, who was in Europe on business.

"This is an amazing win. It is truly an honour to be voted the first TasIT Company of the Year" said Mr Roberts.

"To be selected by your peers as the state's best ICT company is something that makes this award even more special. This award is a testament to the hard work of our staff and the company's commitment to innovation and ongoing R&D that has seen Autech continue to lead the world in colour visualisation".

The award caps off an amazing year for Autech, with the Launceston company winning 5 awards in 2007; including the G'day USA Innovation Shootout in New York and the AMP Innovation Award at the Tasmanian Telstra Business Awards.
